CAPTURE OF LUBLIN DOUBTFUL IN VALUE

Russian Retreat Accomplished Before Railway Line Was Yielded to Mackensen.

By J. W. T. MASON.

NEW YORK, July 31 .- The capture of Lublin by the Austro-German forces has been delayed too long to give Marshal von Mackensen an important strategic advantage.

The larger part of the Russian field force has already fallen back to the new Slav battlefront, north and south of Brest-Litovsk, 119 miles east of Warsaw If Lublin had capitulated before the Russian army got away, von Mackensen might have cut off the retreat to Brest-Litovsk, but this now is impos-

The Russians have undoubtedly given way at Lublin in co-operation with their general plan of retreat. They are falling back on the Brest-Litovsk railfalling back on the Brest-Litovsk rail-way, and are in an excellent position to fight stubborn rear guard actions. It is improbable that von Mackensen will succeed in enveloping the Lublin army. Like the other retirements of the Slav forces, the Lublin retreat is almost cer-tain of succeeding. By crossing the railway at Lublin, however, von Mackensen compels the commencement of the final stage of the evacuation of Warsaw and all the Vis-tula positions.

Ivangorod, the great fortress guarding the southern flank of the Vistula defenses, must either be abandoned almost immediately or its garrison will be envelopment of Ivangorod would The envelopment of Ivangorod would give the Austro-Germans possession of the rallway which parallels the Vistula to Warsaw, and thus cut Warsaw from Brest-Litovsk. The Grand Duke Nicholas, however, has become so experienced in directing retreats, and Russian strategy is so essentially based on defensive rather than offensive tactics, that the Warsaw rear guard probably will succeed in slipping through before will succeed in slipping through before the way is barred.

The Russians are now clearing out of an area of 25,000 square miles. This doubles the previous territorial holding of the Austro-Germans in Russia. When the Slave have all retired and have surged. rendered the intervening territory, the Teutonic forces will occupy a Russian area exceeding the size of Alabama, and two and one-half times the size of German holdings in France and

'HONORABLE PEACE," EDWARD GREY'S AIM

LONDON, July 31.-On the anniversary tente hung in the balance, Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign war.

The reasons which led Great Britain to declare war and the ideals for which she is fighting have been frequently set forth. They are fully understood in America. I do not feel, therefore, that there is any need to repeat them now. I am quite contented to leave the rights and wrongs of cases and the conduct of the war to the judgment of the American people. The United Kingdom and the entire empire, together with their gallant allies, have never been more determined than they are today to prosecute this war to a
